

AIR Call for Educators: Postsecondary Data Partnership

AIR seeks applications for Educators to contribute to our professional development and training programs in support of the National Student Clearinghouse (NSC) Postsecondary Data Partnership (PDP). Currently needed roles are for curriculum development and instruction (e.g., workshops and webinars). PDP Educators will be compensated for their time; compensation varies by role and commitment level.

If you are interested in these roles, we invite you to share your information and describe your PDP experience in the application.

APPLICATION DETAILS

Deadline: February 14, 2023 by 11:59 PM (ET)

Process: Applications are submitted online via the AIR website. A preview of the application is provided below. You are not able to save your responses on the application form, so you may find it helpful to complete your answers in advance in a Word document or similar.

Assistance: For questions and assistance, please contact Cassie Burns, Senior Project Manager, AIR at cburns@airweb.org.

APPLICATION PREVIEW

Profile

For your application to be considered, you must review and complete your AIR profile. The following sections are required: Account Information, Employment Information, and Contact Information. The Demographic Information and Interests and Expertise sections are optional.

Postsecondary Data Partnership (PDP) Experience

(required, limit 3000 characters)

Please describe your experience with the PDP, including submission of data (if relevant), response to errors in submission files, and use of dashboards and analysis-ready files (e.g., for individual and office use, collaboration with institutional colleges, and/or in formal presentations, etc.).

Content Development & Instruction Experience

(required, limit 3000 characters)

Please describe your experience with content development and/or instruction (PDP-related or other).
